BIRTHS.

Born, Tuesday night to the wife of William Lancaster, nee Curran, a son, weight eight pounds.

MATRIMONIAL.

The marriage of Miss Blanche Bledsoe Thompson to Mr. Isaac Cunningham Haley was solemnized Wednesday evening at the Christian church at Clintonville. It was a beautiful ceremony and gracefully and impres-sively said by President C. C. Fisher of the College at Millersburg.

The color scheme of the wedding was pink and green and was very prettily carried out in the decorations and bridesmaids' gowns. At the back of the pulpit and surrounding it, forming a semi-circle, was banked handsome palms and ferns and to each side tall cathedral candlesticks with lighted tapers complete a perfect setting for the ceremony. There were additional decorations of jardinières of handsome Lawson pinks.

The lovely wedding music was played by Miss Ethel Fisher who is a beautiful blonde of the daintiest type.
Miss Fisher was becomingly gowned in pink messaline. Mrs. Sutherland sang three beautiful solos, "Love, the Highwayman," "Entreaty" and "I Love
You Truly."

Lohengrin's wedding march heralded
the approach of the bridal party.
First came the ushers, Mr. Albert
Haley of Lexington, and Mr. Badger
Robinson, of Mt. Sterling. Simultaneously from the other aisle came
Mr. G. C. Thompson, Jr., and Mr.
James Carroll Bryan.

The maid of honor, Miss Myra Booth, followed alone. She was very handsome in a graceful gown of pink messaline and carried a huge bunch of pink roses. Next came the bride on the arm of her father, Mr. A. S.
Thompson, and the bridegroom with his best man, Mr. Wm. Fagan, of Augusta, joining, the couple stood before the waiting minister for the impressive ceremony.

The bride is the beautiful daughter of Hon. and Mrs. A. S. Thomson, and numbers her friends and admirers by the score. She wore a beautiful wedding gown of soft chrysalis satin trimmed in pearls, which was very becoming to her girlish beauty.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs.
W. W. Haley and one of the most popular and highly esteemed young men of Bourbon county.

Mr. and Mrs. Haley were the recipients of a large number of handsome and costly presents.

After the ceremony the wedding party was entertained at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.
W. Haley. Later Mr. and Mrs. Haley left for a wedding journey South.

Mo., has contributed a memorial window which is to be placed in a new Episcopal church now being erected in that city, in honor of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ellen Hart Talbott, and step-mother, Mrs. Martha Payne Brent.
Mrs. Talbott was the mother of W. G.
and T. Hart Talbott, of this county, and his step-mother was the mother of Mrs. Jas. K. Ford and Mrs. John C.
Brent, deceased.

DEATHS.

News has been received here of the death of Mrs. Aylette Bedford, formerly of Bourbon county, which occurred at her home in Hobart, Okla., Tuesday. Her husband preceded her to the grave several months ago. Mrs.
Bedford was a sister of the late Sanford Talbott, of Paris, and the mother of M. S. Talbott, of this county, and Albert Talbott, of Sharpsburg.

Mrs. Kittie Withers, widow of the late James S. Withers, died at her home in Cynthiana Wednesday morning at one o'clock, suddenly, from heart trouble. Mrs. Withers, who had been in feeble health since the death of her husband last August, seemed considerably better Tuesday. She was able to leave her room, and with the assistance of the nurse took a short walk out of doors.

She retired fairly well, and slept until after twelve o'clock. At about 12:30 she called the nurse and asked for a physician, saying she had a very strange feeling. Dr. Marshall Mc-Dowell was summoned, but by the time he reached the bedside the patient was unconscious. She failed to respond to stimulants, and died at one o'clock.

Mrs. Withers was a daughter of Greenup and Elizabeth Clay Remington, and was born in Cynthiana on March 14, 1856. Three children survive, Mrs. Jos. W. Davis, of this city;
Mrs. Bailey D. Berry, of Lexington;
Rodney S. Withers, of Cynthiana;
James A. Remington, of Cynthiana, was her brother. B. F. Remington, of Paris, was her half-brother; Mrs.
Elizabeth Smith, of Cynthiana, and Mrs. Caroline Taylor, of Kansas City, Mo., were her half-sisters. Mrs.
Withers was a member of the Christian church and for many years she was an active participant in church affairs. The funeral will take place at her late residence this afternoon at two o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. W. E. Ellis. Burial will follow at Battle Grove.

River Drops From Light.

The Austrian River Polk drops into a big hole and disappears entirely into the interior of the earth.

Woman's Lot.

If you have something to forgive, never mind. That is always a woman's lot.—From "A Man of Genius."

Poison in Tobacco and Almond.

A German expert says that there is less prussic acid in 25 cigars than in one bitter almond.

Spread of Education.

There were 150,000 children at school in India 60 years ago. There are 4,000,000 now.

Few Can Do This.

The man who can carry a baby gracefully will never have to wear a ring on his thumb to indicate that he is married.—Toledo Blade.

A Gift Book.

To give a book is to enrich the receiver permanently; to put into his or her possession something which leaves residuum of pleasure long after the particular date on which it was received has been forgotten.—Hammill W. Mable.

True Education.

Education is but studying what other men have done in the world in order that we may waste no time in discovering what has already been discovered or in following paths that have been found to lead in no useful direction.—Chicago Examiner.

Ready Sealer.

For traveling, carry a candle with you and, when about to make a jump, as the theatrical people say, seal your bottles with it. It takes only a minute to light the candle, turn it upside down and let the tallow drip around the cork of a bottle, but it insures perfect carriage of the fluid content.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

New Use for the Telephone.

Cecil was accustomed to hearing his mother telephone for nearly everything she needed. One day as he entered the pantry a little mouse scampered across the floor. Very much frightened, he jumped up and down screaming: "Oh, mother, phone for the cat! Please phone for the cat!"—Success Magazine.

For Accidents.

Every mother should keep a supply of lint and some good ointment in the medicine cupboard, and when an accident, such as a cut finger, occurs, it may be used. Spread a little of the ointment on the lint and lay it on the injured part after it has been washed thoroughly in hot water. Cover the lint with a soft rag and tie it up.

Remarkable Intelligence.

A Spanish student, going out with a party to shoot rabbits, was told not to talk, lest he should frighten the rabbits. When the timid creatures appeared, he uttered an exclamation in Latin, which frightened them away, and, upon his companions blaming him, he said: "Who could have supposed that rabbits understand Latin?"

Saintliness Unpopular.

That state of mind, which let us call the ignominy of the virtuous, is not entirely confined to boys of nine years. I have seen grown men and women, being accused of saintliness, over whose faces passed an expression of mortification. They would accept with more complacency the tribute that they were getting to be devils in their old age.—Max Eastman, in the Atlantic.

When to Go Home.

When tired out go home. When you want consolation go home. When you want to show others that you have reformed go home and let your family get acquainted with the fact. When you want to show yourself at your best go home and do the act there. When you feel like being extra liberal go home and practice on your wife and children first. When you want to shine with unusual brilliancy go home and light up the whole household.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

Hall's Caruncle cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Hall's Caruncle Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Failed to See the Connection.

"Tommy, what was the preacher's text this morning?"

"He didn't have any regular text. He said his sermon would be on the subject, 'Charity Biggins at Home,' and he didn't say a word about her. All he talked about was lovin' your neighbor an' doin' good."

More Modern.

The Trance Medium—"You're looking pretty prosperous, Ferdinand—I thought the slate-writing stunt was played out?" Former Slate-Writer—"Oh, I cut that out many moons ago; why, the spirit messages I dispense nowadays are written on souvenir post cards!"

Throwing Away Advantages. Robert Lowe, the English journalist, was always saying good things. "Look at that fool throwing away his natural advantages!" he exclaimed when a deaf member of the house of commons put up his ear trumpet.

Real Tough Luck. Our Cedar Point correspondent is recovering from a stroke of paralysis, the editor's office was burned, and the Bulletin's head reporter is about to write up her own wedding. It is what you might call tough luck all around.—Florence Bulletin.

Where the Trouble Lay. His Wife—"John, these shoes don't fit me at all." Her Husband—"Why, they look comfortable." "Yes, that's the trouble. I've had them on nearly an hour, and they don't hurt in the least, so of course they are entirely too big."—Illustrated Bits.

All Had Done Time. "You know Mrs. Van Gilder's family portrait gallery that she started last year?" "Yes." "Well, that great criminal detective officer who guarded the wedding presents when Frostie Van Gilder married the oldest DeGraff boy, told me that he recognizes seven of the portraits, and they had all done time—whatever that means."

The Only Way. To try to make others comfortable is the only way to get right comfortable ourselves, and that comes partly of not being able to think so much about ourselves when we are helping other people. For ourselves will always do pretty well if we do not pay them too much attention.—George Macdonald.

Let Children Be Happy. Do not try to make men of your boys or women of your girls, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. It is not natural. Love them. Make home just as happy a place as possible and give them rein, freedom. There is nothing sadder in life than the child who has been robbed of its childhood.

Proper Use of Food. Too much food is as bad as too little and occasions a waste of energy and strength in the body as well as a waste of nutritive material. While in the case of some foods as purchased, notably meats, some waste is unavoidable; the pecuniary loss can be diminished, both by buying those kinds in which there is the least waste, and by utilizing more carefully than is ordinarily done, portions of what is usually classed as refuse.

The Laziest People. There is no doubt that the Malay is one of the laziest people in the world. Except in rare cases they will not take the trouble to learn when they are young, and afterward, if they have learned, they will not exert themselves to apply their knowledge to any object which requires a sustained effort. That they possess energy is known to anyone who has seen Malays engaged in any enterprise which savors of sport. They do not mind the trouble if there is only some risk and excitement in the work.

Spread the Salve. Praise is encouraging; it brings out the best that is in a man and inspires him to do his duty cheerfully and faithfully.—Henry Lee.

Forget It! Every one ought to make it a life rule to wipe out from his memory everything that has been unpleasant, unfortunate, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. We ought to forget everything that has kept us back, has made us suffer, has been disagreeable, and never allow the hideous pictures of distressing conditions to enter our minds again. There is only one thing to do with a disagreeable, harmful experience, and that is to forget it!

Bend of Sympathy.

Tramp to lady of the house—"Is that your husband going down the street?" Lady—"Yes." Tramp—"I know, then, that you will not be sensible to some slight bond between us when I tell you that I asked that man for a dime?"

Charm of England.

It is not strange that Englishmen should be as certainly they are—passionate lovers of their country; for their country is almost beyond parallel, peaceful, gentle and beautiful. Even in vast London, where practical life asserts itself with such prodigious force, the stranger is impressed, in every direction, with a sentiment of repose and peace.—William Winter.

Reason for Savage Custom.

There is a world-wide custom among savages and barbarians of burying food and weapons with the body of a dead warrior, sacrificing stock at the grave of the pastoral chief and burying seeds of grain with the agriculturist. More than that, the dead chief must have attendants to provide for his wants in the new world; hence the horrible practice of sacrificing human victims at his bier.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES

Judge Holmes May Enter Race.
Judge Samuel Holmes, a prominent attorney of the Carlisle bar, is being talked of as a prospective candidate for the Republican nomination for Railroad Commissioner in this district and admits that he had the matter under consideration. Judge Holmes is one of the most prominent Republican leaders in this section of Kentucky.

Fell and Fractured Skull.

A young man giving his name as Isaac Riley was killed in an unusual manner near Danville Tuesday. While walking along the road he accidentally fell. His forehead struck a small rock in the road and his skull was fractured. He lived only a short while after the accident occurred. He was about sixteen years of age. The boy flatly refused to give out any information whatever concerning his past life or his former home or his relatives.

—At Millersburg last week dogs got into a flock of sheep that belonged to Dr. Mathers, of Carlisle and killed one.

—The State Farmers' Club will meet in Mt. Sterling on February 23. An excellent program has been arranged. The meeting will last three days.

Suits Against Robinson Circus.

Damage suits against John Robinson's circus were commenced in Circuit Court at Richmond Tuesday. There are eight plaintiffs whose claims aggregate $5,000. The suit grew out of alleged damages to the plaintiffs at Robinson show at Richmond in July, when a section of seats collapsed.

Hunter for Legislature.

Declared to be Insane.

Mrs. Amanda Harrison, who confessed to opening the grave of young Saufley in the Stanford cemetery a few weeks ago, and attempted to remove the body, was adjudged of unsound mind Tuesday and sent to the Lexington asylum. The woman said she believed if she could get the body of her Saufley she could restore him to life.

Court Day was a Bummer as far as the Crowd Went.

The Carlisle Advocate says: "Court day was a bummer as far as the crowd went. The market was bare of cattle, but mules and horses were in abundance. Georgetown parties bought several good roadsters and several other buyers from out of town made purchases. Prices on horses ranged from $125 to $200, with most of the sales around $165. Mules sold well and several pairs brought fancy prices.

"Wets" Withdraw Petition.

In the Nicholas County Court at Carlisle, the petition of the "wets" for a vote on the local option question in Nicholas county were withdrawn on their motion Monday. The petitions were filed last week and when the application for an election to be called for April 15 was made it was found a number of signers in one of the precincts had withdrawn their names, they appearing in court and demanding their signatures stricken from the petitions. This reduced the number of signers to less than twenty-five per cent in the precinct, resulting in the "wets" withdrawing their petitions. It is charged by the "wets" that the "drys" exercised an undue influence over the signers of the petition to have them withdraw their names.

Civic League Appeals for Members.

The fate of the Paris Civic League is up to you. You are asked to back the movement to the tremendous extent of one dollar for one year and thus, if you are skeptical of its success, give yourself a chance to be shown. It is unfortunate that everybody can't know the calls that came to the league the instant it was known that an organization existed, interested in such appeals.

The reported condition of certain back yards is appealing, certainly undreamed of by the league organizers who planned to arrange for "Cleaning Up Days," but didn't realize their extreme necessity till concrete instances were reported, confidentially of course.

Mule Proves a Freak of Nature.

A freak of nature was witnessed in Richmond Wednesday when a fine mare belonging to J. R. Azbell, a liverman gave birth to a mule colt having two perfect heads, four perfect front feet and two back ones tapering at the hips into only two hind feet, together with the hind quarters being as perfect as any ordinary mule. The colt was born alive, but lived only a short time. More than a thousand citizens viewed the animal, which was pronounced to be one of the most wonderful freaks of nature ever seen.

$100,000 Fire in Lexington.

Fire, which originated from an unknown source in the main barn of the Gentry and Thompson stockyards "midnight Wednesday in Lexington, completely destroyed every building on the grounds except the office, burned to death sixty horses and forty mules, and the feed stored in the barns and caused a loss of about $100,000, partially covered by insurance.

Declared to be Insane.

Mrs. Amanda Harrison, who confessed to opening the grave of young Saufley in the Stanford cemetery a few weeks ago, and attempted to remove the body, was adjudged of unsound mind Tuesday and sent to the Lexington asylum. The woman said she believed if she could get the body of her Saufley she could restore him to life.

Court Day was a Bummer as far as the Crowd Went.

The Carlisle Advocate says: "Court day was a bummer as far as the crowd went. The market was bare of cattle, but mules and horses were in abundance. Georgetown parties bought several good roadsters and several other buyers from out of town made purchases. Prices on horses ranged from $125 to $200, with most of the sales around $165. Mules sold well and several pairs brought fancy prices.

Wrote Again from Old Mexico.

Writing from Houston, Texas, Mr. Clarence Erringer, formerly of Paris and now with one of the leading automobile manufacturing companies in the United States, sends the following interesting description of Juarez, its many sided attraction, its bull ring and many other features of what is rapidly becoming one of the gayest and most interesting cities in the world, as far as its sporting features are concerned. Mr. Erringer says:

"Houston, Texas—Dear B—Say, boy, if all the things that have not been told about the gay life of Juarez, Mexico, could get into the public print, it would create a sensation. London, Paris, France, and Lexington, Ky., have been held up to the world as leaders in the gay and festive games of chance, etc., but Juarez, Mexico, has them all beat to a frazzle, and then some.

"You might as well expect people to go to Rome and not try to have a peep at the Pope as to have them come to El Paso, Texas, and not cross the Rio Grande river to Juarez and have a look at a real Mexican bull fight. It is one of the sights, and nobody wants to miss seeing at least one performance.

During the annual 'fiesta' now in progress the crowds headed that way are unusually large, and men, women and children, even, are eager to witness a bull fight.

"To be able to live through a bull fight and say that you really enjoyed it, one has to go prepared for the worst and were fortified against all feelings of humanity.

"It looks inconsistent for the times to see inside the fiesta grounds, in the buildings and along the sidewalk like at a street fair, gambling tables of every description piled high with money while old and decrepit beggars are holding out grimy palms, asking for just a 'centavo,' every few steps you take.

"At the first sight of these money-laden tables, the thought to try to make a grab and a quick getaway hits you like a bomb shell, but on second thought a look at the dark-faced Mexicans standing on guard and the grim prison walls up the street makes you hurriedly change your train of thought. Great big shining silver dollars are stacked in piles a foot high and a yard wide. There are roulette tables, keno, poker and all kinds of contrivances for gambling, doing a bigger business than a free lunch stand at the noon hour.

"The man who knows" keeps his hands and his money in his pockets and stays ahead of the game, while the poor "sucker" who lacks experience feeds the "vultures."

"After a glance at all this unconvincing your blood begins to tingle with excitement, and you pass on to the side show, where the cock fight is going on, and you begin being equal to seeing almost any old thing. Once inside it sounds like early in the morning, with all the cocks crowing a grand chorus. The fight is short, but exciting. After they tie the 'slashers' to the roosters' feet they put them in the ring to do their little stunts. Not cherishing any personal grudge against each other they fail to show any particular antagonism, until their trainers tar and feather by bringing them face to face, and each gets a few pecks at the other to quarrel over, then they are turned loose to do murder.

"The winning fowl begin to crow loudly as he sees his ring mate hop over, close his eyes and let his life blood flow out, which means money in somebody's pockets, and money out of the purse of the fellow who was betting the other way. The big crowd files quickly out after the last event, gesticulating and talking over their winnings and losses in true Latin style. After this mild form of bloodshed as witnessed in the cock-pit you feel equal to witnessing the bull fight, and proceed with the rest of the crowd. We arrive at the bull ring, take our seats and await the march of events.

"The Mexican soldiers march in, take their seats, and the Mayor of Juarez and the judges are seen to appear in the boxes reserved for them, and the big show, such as it is, is on. The Mexican band begins to play, the gates of the arena are thrown open, and the glittering pageant of the matador, his banderilleros, picadors and mazos enter.

"The matador, or leading man had on yellow silk 'pants,' his waist was fashioned to match, and was trimmed with fringe and beads that tinkled and jingled as he strutted forth. His first banderillo had his upholstery cut on the same lines, except that his suit was of gray silk with gold braid trimmings. The next man chose royal purple, and the fourth was clothed in pea green. They wore their hair braided, with caps all of the same style and color.

"Next comes the 'steeds,' ridden by three picadors. Of all the poor, skinny, dilapidated, down at the heel looking remnants of horseflesh you ever saw, these three tipped the scales. They looked as if they had been playing 'hockey' from the boneyard. But what else could be expected, for from 50 cents to $4 is all they cost. They were in the last stages of starvation and were nothing but a continuation of scars and wounds from being gored by the bulls in the ring. If their internal revenue department happens to get gored out they are sewed up and put back in the ring to be gored again until there isn't enough left of their poor meagre carcasses to be gored.

"The matador, banderilleros and picadors took their places around the ring, and the bugle sounded for the entrance of the bull, when 'koplunk,' before anyone said 'boo' to him, the 'plug' ridden by the first picador fell under his rider's weight, and had to be dragged from the ring. He must have been working a little game of strategy, for as soon as pulled out, he gets upon his feet, looked as wise as a high school graduate, and hobble into this cell to rest until the next Sunday's performance. The next plug was not so wise, however, as the poor fellow was blindfolded, led to the center of the ring, and without any chance of defending himself, was immediately gored to death, while the picador's heavy armor saved him.

"After the picador's exit, next comes the matador and his assistants. Everybody forgot the ante-bellum looking plug and his misery when the gate was thrown open again and the bull makes a wild dash into the spotlight. These poor creatures are not given any water for several days before they are to fight, and they are famished as well as mad before they are put into the arena. As the bull came through the gate a guard whose business in life is to inflict the first wound, planted a gaily colored rosette of ribbons into his shoulder on the end of a sharp fish-hook barbed spear. Bulls may not be as tender as babies, but they do not like such treatment, and this one began to bellow and paw up the earth in his fury. This is what the man in the yellow togs wants, and he waved his red cape at him to increase his rage, while the picadors came up on their piebald steeds once more and jabbed him with their 'picas.' Every time a fresh wound was inflicted the bull became angrier. One of the most daring feats of the performance is the planting of the banderilleros after the picador has had his innning. The banderillo is a stick about a yard in length, (gaily colored to match the suits of the banderilleros. These, with sharp hooks on the ends, are inflicted two at a time, into the bull's shoulders until he has six of them imbedded in him, giving him fits every time he moves. After he has been tortured for half an hour and shows signs of getting weak from loss of blood, the signal is given to kill him, and the music ceases as the matador asks permission of the Mayor to show his skill with the sword. This granted he goes out into the middle of the ring to slay the already dying bull. As bulls always shut their eyes when they charge their adversaries the matador is not in much danger, and he quickly sidesteps every move made by the bull. You have to understand the science and skill of being a torreador to fully appreciate all the antics these matadors cut in the bull ring, but to the naked eye and the critical observer, they look as if they don't care to live any longer, the way they go about courting danger.

"The most skillful matador kills his bull with one thrust of the sword, but as the vital spot is only about the size of a dollar, and has to be reached between the shoulders, it is seldom done at the first trial. He may drive the sword up to the hilt but if he fails to get the heart he and the bull have a time chasing each other around the ring until he regains his sword and has another try. If the bull refuses to die by this treatment the brave Mexican (oh, how I love them, the brutes) slips up behind his foe, plants a long knife in the seat of the bull's brain, and the brutal work is finished up. The tormented bull rolls his eyes for one last look at his tormentor and goes to his 'happy home,' as a team of mules is brought in to drag him out of his hind legs, and the band strikes up another tune, until three more bulls are brought into the arena, and the so-called fight continues.

"Branding calves at a round-up may be nerve-racking, but when the owners of cattle explain to you that it is a part of the business, you can calm your imagination to a certain degree. But when you see dumb animals, horses and bulls alike, tortured solely for the 'sport' of bloodthirsty pleasure seekers, you wonder what is wrong with the world that such things cannot be stopped and resolved never, never again to be a witness to such brutal 'sport.'

"I have certainly seen my first and last bull fight, that is, as conducted in the name of 'sport.'

Third Trial a Disagreement.

The trial of the case of Leach vs. Green in Judge Dundon's court Wednesday for the third time resulted in a hung jury. Mr. Leach having secured possession of the horse by the issuing of an attachment. The attorneys in the case are C. Arnpriester for the plaintiff and Charles A. McMillan for the defendant.

A similar movement was started in Paris some time ago but like everything else that has an absorbing interest for a short time only, it has passed out of the minds of the people while our physicians continue to take their patients to Lexington and Louisville for treatment they could receive here at home.

Four New Pitchers are Signed.

The depleted pitching staff of the pennant-winning Paris club is being strengthened rapidly and about ten new recruits have up to this time been signed by the Paris management for a try-out when the base ball season opens.

Manager McKernan has been actively engaged since he came to terms with the Paris management and has forwarded to President Bacon the signed contracts of four twirlers and one outfielder.

The latest additions to the pitching staff are Preston Brown, of Dayton, Ky., Earl A. Hewitt, of Bethel, Ohio, R. L. Timme, Newport, and Frank Schrader, Cincinnati. All are right-handers and have been highly recommended to McKernan, who also forwarded the contract of R. G. Godwin, of Bethel, Ohio, an outfielder, into whose record he has inquired and is very much impressed with his performances.

Billy Kuhlman, who covered the third sack for the Bourbonites last season, has come to terms and his contract is now in the possession of President Bacon.

Indications are that there will be a large quantity of good material from which to pick a strong team when the men report for practice on April 17.

Did You Ever Think It Over?

That a man can do what is right in any kind of business. Six years ago, when I first came to this city, you had parties in the same line of my business that did about ten per cent. of the business I am doing to-day.

Do You Know the Reason Why?

It's because I give one and all that deals with me a square, honest deal. I owe my success in business to the fact that I always give correct, honest weight and the highest market price.

IF YOU EVER HAVE ANY

scrap iron, metals, rubber, rags, hides, tallow, furs, etc., to offer, see me before selling. If you will call by phone or leave your order I will gladly send my wagons for junk to any part of the city or county.

Thought She Ought to Know

By EDITH V. ROSS

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Young Mrs. Hardenburgh was a creature of impulse. She was not only swayed by impulse, but would take the most important steps without realizing what she was doing. Decisions that another would only make after long deliberation she would make on the instant.

Nevertheless Mrs. Hardenburgh was a dear little woman, kind hearted, lovable and popular with all who knew her. The only trait that interfered with her getting on with all the world was that if told anything to one's disadvantage she would not stop to question the truth of the information, but proceed at once to strike the culprit's name off her list.

Now, there are persons in the world who think nothing of making trouble between other persons, even to the members of families. A woman one day gave Mrs. Hardenburgh information about her husband's doings which if true would have marked him for a very dishonorable and contemptible person. The informer had got the news from another, who had got it from some one else. Her ground for telling Mrs. Hardenburgh of it was that she thought she ought to know it. It did not occur to the teller that it might not be true, and if it were true it was just the thing of all others the guilty man's wife should not know. Nevertheless the above named reason is the universal excuse of those persons who carry such information.

Mrs. Hardenburgh was thrown into hysterics by the story and, instead of giving her husband an opportunity to defend himself of the charge, ran away to her mother as fast as she could go. Being an only child, her mother was used to humorizing her and on this occasion gave her unbounded sympathy. Whether the good lady doubted the truth of the story and intended later to pave the way to a reconciliation does not appear. For the time being she comforted her child as best she could. When the latter had recovered her equanimity her mother suggested that she send her husband the reasons for her flight. The young wife did so, sprinkling her note with such words as "perfidious," "disgraceful," "infamous," and the like.

When Hardenburgh returned home in the evening and found the letter, instead of running right around to his wife to explain matters he sat down to think. It was certainly not pleasant that he had married a wife who, when a firebrand was thrown into the family, instead of picking it up and tossing it back at the thrower had proceeded to set the house afire with it. If he were going to live with his wife it was certainly necessary that he eliminate this trait in her, and if he could not eliminate it it was perhaps better that they should remain apart.

He had for some time meditated going to a distant city to settle a long standing matter of business, but had put the trip off from time to time on account of having just been married. Within an hour after his return to his home he had announced to the servants that he was going away and started for the railway station.

The young wife meanwhile was passing through the transition common to all persons who act hastily. When she had been somewhat calmed her mother ventured to suggest that the charge might not be true. To this the daughter responded that the informer had no object in giving false information and had done it only since she thought the wife ought to know it. Nevertheless Mrs. Hardenburgh began to be worried. She noted the hour that her husband usually returned home and gave him time to come to her. After several hours had elapsed and Mr. Hardenburgh did not appear she could not conceal her trepidation. She gave her mother as a reason for it that she feared something might have happened to him.

When 10 o'clock came and there was no news from the culprit husband the butler was sent to the house to reconnoiter. He returned reporting that Mr. Hardenburgh had gone away.

The result of this information which Mrs. Hardenburgh's friend "thought she ought to know" opened with the most frightful night the young wife ever spent. From her previous condemnation of her husband she swung to the other extreme, and it rushed upon her with overpowering force that the really good man who had married her could not possibly have been guilty of any such conduct as had been imputed to him. After a sleepless night she went home, hoping to learn something of her husband's movements. She was disappointed. The servants only knew that he had gone away the night before. The disconsolate wife went to her husband's office, but elicited no information there.

And now Mrs. Hardenburgh be-thought herself to make inquiries of the informer as to where she got the information. The dear woman who had so great an interest in her friend's affairs said that she had "heard it was coming from"— And Mrs. Hardenburgh's investigations never got any further than "was coming from."

After two weeks' absence Mr. Hardenburgh returned to find his wife waiting for him, a very penitent woman, not likely to make the same mistake again.

Strange to say, the young wife after all did not appreciate having heard what she ought to know and does not speak to the informer.

Motor Too Quiet-Arrested:

The 1911 season has unquestionably accomplished much in the way of quiet running motors. An unusual and rather amusing incident of this was recently given in Los Angeles. J. B. Morrow, who owns an Inter-State, left the car alongside the sidewalk, thinking he had shut off the motor. A short circuit, however, kept the engine running, but so quietly that Morrow did not detect it. A number of the Los Angeles police force coming up the sidewalk also thought the motor dead, and in order to grab a moments repose leaned up against the car's hood. He then detected a slight vibration, made investigation and found the motor running most industriously. He arrested Morrow for leaving the engine running for over a half hour on the street.—From the San Francisco Bulletin.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—Think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad thing. So there is no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, of Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's Few Discovery for thirty years, and it is the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It is the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for Agrippe, asthma, hayfever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer.

Prayer Unanswered.

It had been raining all day and little Mark, shut up in the house, was anxious to get out and play. His mother, in another room, thought that she heard him talking, and presently inquired to whom.

"I was talking to God, momma," the child replied. "I asked Him to make it stop raining so I could go outdoors, but—I don't think He was very pleased about it. He never let on that He heard me at all!"

A Fire Fighter's Astounding Story OF THE UNPARALLELED MERITS OF "BLOODINE"

HARRY A. GLAZIER

A Prominent Fireman of Malden, Mass., writes:

Mar. 28th, 1911.

Last winter I had a severe cold and it settled on my kidneys, causing the most excruciating pain almost every time I attempted to move. I had tried everything imaginable to get relief, with no success, and I was visibly failing. To my great surprise, gave me relief almost from the first dose, and before I had taken one bottle I was completely cured. "Bloodine" is a wonderful, vitalizing tonic. If the blood is impure, complete bad, after 10 or 12 bottles the whole system is upset by an accumulation of humors, but it is time to try "Bloodine" today.

Signed, MRS. OCTAVIA E. CARPENTER.

MARSHFIELD, Vt., Sept. 2, 1911.

The Bloodine Co., Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:—I received your trial bottle of Bloodine. That was not enough to do much for me, for I was very bad and weak, passing quite a lot of blood. Now, if you think it will help me, will you send me one dollar's worth. I think this time I take that I can tell if it will do me any good.

Signed, MRS. OCTAVIA E. CARPENTER.

MARSHFIELD, Vt., Sept. 14, 1911.

Respectfully yours,

Signed, MRS. OCTAVIA E. CARPENTER.

Sample Helps Frail Women

So many women are dragging out weary lives just because their digestive organs are weak. The result is poor circulation, nervousness and the verge of invalidism. It is often very unnecessary and the woman's own fault.

The first thing to do is to look to the welfare of your bowels. There the trouble usually lies. All physicians know that a large percentage of women are habitually constipated, and from this results indigestion, piles, weariness, etc., the woman constantly complain of. But there is no need to "take remedies" and things of that kind until you have started your bowels to moving. You will find that when the bowels move regularly once or twice a day all your petty ills will disappear. Take a good, strong laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Tartar, and awhile, and you will find yourself rapidly getting better and stronger, your bowels will require less effort and work at stated times, and then your headaches and dizziness will disappear. Don't take strong cathartics or salts, but just such a mild and pleasant-tasting remedy as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Tartar.

You can obtain a bottle of your drugist for fifty cents or one dollar, and either size may be enough to permanently cure you. Thousands of women keep it regularly in the house and will no longer be without it, as it cured them and can be used with safety by every member of the family, down to the youngest child, but if you have never used it take the advice of M. E. Cox, 409 Twenty-fifth street, Moline, Ill., and Mrs. Ellen Duncan, Muncie, Ind., and send to Dr. Caldwell for a free trial bottle, as they did, and learn for yourself what will do in your own case. That no doubt you, as it did them, there is no doubt.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample sample send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 500 Caldwell building, Muncie, Ind.
